

August Newsletter 2007

I noticed that the last newsletter I posted up here was `June Temporary Newsletter` - you might well ask what happened to the proper June Newsletter and of course, July. Well, the only excuse I can give is that I was underneath a load of paperwork processing the new Club year applications!!! Its been a great start to the new club year. We are going to extend the offer of an ADDITIONAL FREE GIFT (as well as Bailey) for another month.

New pieces shipping this month are as follows:-

Left to right: `March, January and June`

Many of you have asked that I add to the Fairy Collection which came out a couple of years ago. The mohairs are all hand dyed (well actually I get more on my feet than my hands as I move them from bucket to bucket).

They are 3.75 inches and limited to 100 each worldwide.

I have included pictures of the Original Fairies below—we still have a few in stock as they were a larger Edition. `Mai` remains Deb`s Favorite.

I am going to have to think what to do with the remaining months!

Mai Fairy

October Fairy

April Fairy

August Fairy

December

July Fairy

earlier than that.

Frothy Flamingo 3.5

Little Blue Bear Cub is a celebration piece for Clayton my new Grandbaby .
Pippaluk is special too. When I was 10 I remember going to London Zoo to see the new baby polar bear with my Dad. His name was Pipaluk (I spelt it wrong when I named this bear). Judy Holbrook kindly sent me this archive information from the London Zoo web-pages. When I came to name this piece—I immediately thought of this little bear.
Pipaluk's parents, Sam and Sally, had arrived as young cubs from Moscow Zoo in 1960.

Pipaluk was born at ZSL London Zoo on 1 December 1967. The name 'Pipaluk', which rhymes with 'book', was chosen from a list of Inuit (Eskimo) names – it means 'the little one'.

The bear cub was enormously popular with visitors – songs and poems were written and toy bears, Pipaluk balls, cartoons, models, badges and even tea towels were made.

Pipaluk left the Zoo in 1985 when the Mappin Terraces (which housed all the bears) were closed, and went to live in a Zoo in Poland. ~

The signing and party are going to help raise money for Cancer Research UK and I should have done this bear in pink to go with the theme but she would have looked too much like `Polly`. Therefore, we will be placing pink tissue paper in the box so there is some PINK.

DCAD Conjvention 19-21 October, Itasca, Illinois (Chicago area). All enquiries should be directed to RJ Tales@aol.com

We have just way too much fun at this event, the theme this year is `Halloween` which is my favorite. This year we have four convention pieces and of course, the very low edition prizes (le 15) which include a pumpkinhead and some other fun characters.

You can only get these pieces if you attend OR SIGN UP for the convention.

A decent picture of me taken by Patti Palmer at the Palmer Pletsch course I attended in Oregon to learn how to fit Dress patterns. Yes, occasionally I do escape bear sewing—. I am very keen to encourage and teach younger girls to sew since nobody seems to do that anymore, least not schools. I have always had so much pleasure from sewing—I want to share and hope to teach locally. Fun!
